The journal team is deeply grateful to Lyse Hébert for having served as guest editor of Tusaaji No. 2.

This second issue of Tusaaji benefited enormously from the editorial skills of Glendon graduate student Valentina Cova, who served as junior editorial assistant, and from the services of Martin Boyd, who coordinated the translation and copyediting team.

We are grateful to Toronto photographer Jeremy Mimmagh and to artist and choreographer Peter Chin for granting permission to use the cover image and the Fluency video clips included in the current issue.

Special thanks to the Digital Initiatives team at York University for all the support and technical assistance provided.

Our thanks to all the scholars who participated in the peer review process and to the authors for giving us permission to publish their work.

Funding for this issue of Tusaaji was provided by the Office of the Principal at Glendon College and by York University.

Thank you!
